

Seed Research of Oregon's New Website – Fast, Extremely Informative, Easy to Navigate.

Corvallis, Oregon –

Seed Research of Oregon is very excited to announce that their re-designed website is up and running. The website was unveiled by Dr. Leah Brilman and Bill Dunn during Seed Research of Oregon's Technology Camp in Corvallis, Oregon this summer. This represents an extension of our commitment to "applied expertise."

This beautifully-designed website is a technical resource that will definitely benefit you and your customers. Get answers to all your turfgrass questions about Dominant Extreme or Champion GQ. The website can supply you with necessary information to assist you with all turfgrass solutions.

Use the website to:

- Glean new information about specific turfgrass products.
- Find seed specifications for all geographic locations and all uses: Sports Fields, Golf Courses, Sod Production etc
- Download technical information sheets on all of our varieties.
- Find native grass information and their geographical locations.
- Search for turfgrass information by location, category or by species
- Access research articles published by Leah Brilman and our staff about salt tolerant species, Poa annua, bentgrass conversion, fescue management, endophytes, species classifications and much more.
- Employ the search feature to locate any and all information on a specific variety

The site is fast, informative and easily navigated. Check it out. We know you'll be as pleased as we are.
